From the Front Page

Get festive with grocery too as heavy discounts on offer

The average order value on e-grocery platforms has also gone up, currently ranging between ₹1,400 and ₹1,600 as compared to ₹800-900 in the pre-Covid period, say industry experts. E-grocery platforms have strategies in place to tap this surge. Grofers is launching several private labels across categories like snacks, hygiene, disinfectants, staples and personal care products. "We are working with 800 MSMEs to build in-house brands. Currently, private labels contribute about 40% to our business and we plan to increase this to 60% in the next six months," says Bikram Singh Bedi, chief strategy officer, Grofers. The company has also partnered with Cadbury's for a marketing initiative, wherein consumers clicking on the brand's social media ads are being directed to Grofers. It is also working with brands to offer better value to customers. "For instance, laundry detergent brand Tide has launched a bigger pack of 10 kg exclusively on our platform," says Bedi.

Similarly, Del Monte launched its range of flax and pumpkin seeds exclusively on e-commerce channels last month. "We plan to further extend this range and launch dry fruits on e-commerce platforms around Diwali," says Yogesh Bellani, CEO, Field Fresh Foods, a joint venture between Bharti Enterprises and Del Monte Pacific, which markets Del Monte products in India. Besides gifting items like dry fruits and chocolate, the health and hygiene segment is a focus area for these companies this year due to the pandemic. According to Saurabh Srivastava, director, category management, Amazon India, the company witnessed a huge spike in demand for products such as Savlon Disinfectant Spray, Whisper Sanitary Napkins, Chyawanprash, Dettol and Dove bathing soaps in the first 48 hours after launching its sales event. The company also saw demand for cooking supplies, spreads and dry fruits.

Though the orders for grocery have risen substantially on e-commerce platforms, the volumes are still not enough to make deliveries cost-efficient — a persistent challenge for these companies. Consider this: while the average order weight for groceries is 8-10 kg, the margins lie in the range of 4-5%. "While grocery deliveries require more effort and resources, they also have thin margins and this makes it difficult for the companies to keep their costs lean," says Satish Meena, senior forecast analyst, Forrester Research. Moreover, while players have increased their focus on hyper-local deliveries and tied up with general stores across the country to address this issue, it is not going to be easy to cater to demand from across geographies. One of the biggest trends this year for the grocery category is a huge increase in orders from tier II cities. Grofers reports it has seen an increase of 54% in orders from non-metro markets. "It is very challenging for these players to predict demand and plan their assortments as the extrapolations from the previous year do not apply to the new customers coming in from regions which have never shopped online," says Anand Ramanathan, partner, Deloitte India.

ICICI Bank profit up 549% y-o-y on higher income

At the end of September 2020, ICICI Bank held Covid-19 related provisions of ₹8,772 crore. Additions to gross non-performing assets (NPA) increased to ₹3,017 crore in the September quarter from ₹1,160 crore in the June quarter. ICICI Bank's gross NPA ratio at the end of September stood at 5.17%, 29 bps lower than 5.46% at the end of June, while the net NPA ratio decreased 23 bps sequentially to 1%. Including loans amounting to ₹1,410 crore not classified as non-performing following the apex court's interim order, the gross NPA ratio would have been 5.36% and the net NPA ratio would have been 1.12%. On September 30, 2020, the fund-based and non-fund based outstanding to borrowers rated BB and below was ₹16,167 crore, down from ₹17,110 crore on June 30, 2020.

Recoveries and upgrades of NPAs were to the tune of ₹1,945 crore, while loans worth ₹2,469 crore were written off. The provision coverage ratio on non-performing loans increased to 81.5% on September 30, 2020 from 78.6% a quarter ago. The bank's total capital adequacy as on September 30, 2020, including profits for H1FY21, was 19.33% and the tier-1 capital adequacy was 17.89%, compared to the minimum regulatory requirements of 11.08% and 9.08% respectively. ICICI Bank shares on the BSE closed at ₹392.55 on Friday, down 1.84% from their previous close.

Passenger vehicles outrace two-wheelers

During July-September quarter for instance, sales of Alto grew 26% (46,297 units, over 36,779 units in Q2FY20). "Unlike in two-wheelers, new model launches pushed sales substantially in PVs," says Sanjeev Garg, practice leader, automotive, Praxis Global Alliance. "There have also been a lot more new PV launches this year (compared to those of two-wheelers)," he said. Garg added that post-lockdown, institutional buying in the two-wheeler segment is yet to pick up. "We foresee increased institutional sales of two-wheelers in the coming months," he says. Food delivery companies such as Swiggy and Zomato are yet to reach pre-Covid-19 order value, but they are getting there. On October 22, Swiggy said its pan-India food delivery has recovered to 80-85% of pre-Covid-19 order value, while in 'many markets' it has returned to 95%. Also, recovery for the overall food delivery market, according to a Zomato analysis till September, clocked over 85% of pre-Covid-19 gross merchandise value, up from over 75% in August. Post-lockdown, while initial sales growth (first negative and then positive) was more favourable for two-wheelers than for PVs, it started turning around in July. According to Siam, in June 2020, two-wheeler sales saw a decline of 38.56% and for PVs the decline 49.59%. In July, two-wheelers saw a decline of 15.24% but PVs narrowed the fall with a decline 3.86%. In August, while two-wheeler sales grew just 3%, those of PVs shot up to 14.16%. And in September, two-wheelers grew 11.64%, while PVs at 26.45%.

According to Som Kapoor, partner, automotive sector, EY India, as India gradually unlocked and people started moving out, entry-level cars and used cars may have attracted a section of prospective two-wheeler buyers. "People are definitely moving to personal mobility, and within personal mobility there's a preference for pre-owned as well as entry-level cars; people have used the pandemic to increase personal mobility and a lot of them believe that the safety net in a four-wheeler is much better than in a two-wheeler," he says. He adds a reason that entry-level cars have seen huge growth is also because there is a generation of young buyers who would have otherwise missed buying their first car? as they preferred ride-sharing? and that generation is ending up buying a car.

Govt mulling proposal for self-censor by OTTs

If the same movies were to get released in theatres they would have needed a certification. The OTTs and the content on them do not come under the purview of the I&B ministry but fall in the domain of ministry of electronics and information technology. Here, too, the OTTs and the programmes that they stream are governed by Sections 67, 67A and 67B of the Information Technology Act. These are IT Acts that apply to the entire Internet domain and basically aims at punishing anybody who publishes or transmits in the electronic form any material that contains sexually explicit acts, etc. These Acts are not civil in nature as is the case with Cinematograph Act or Cable Television Network (Regulation) Act. Under the relevant IT acts, action can only be taken against an OTT player for showing any sexually explicit act or pornography, etc, if someone files an FIR (first information report).

Sources in the government said, therefore, there's a need to address this grey area in law. However, at this point of time it is felt that instead of government drawing up a set of acts and bringing OTT content under them, a better way would be to urge the industry players to bring about some form of self-regulation practices that serve as a programming code for them.

There's also some talk that the content part of OTTs be transferred to I&B from Meity to address the issues relating to convergence better.
